PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

John Ostendorf, R-518

Dear fellow sales tax token collectors,

I hope this finds you well. It's renewal time and I hope everyone will renew. We are a small group but dedicated to this field of numismatics. Our membership dues are still very reasonable, especially if you get the electronic version of the Newsletter. So please don't delay and get your dues renewed today!

Bill tells me that the cupboard is bare for articles. We still have some nicer stuff (rarity 5 to 7) to give out to anyone who submits an article. Send an article and I'll send you the list of what is available to choose from.

You should receive this in early December. I wish all of you a happy holiday season and a happy new year!

Happy collecting, John

2024 MEMBERSHIP DUES ARE NOW DUE!

You can pay via Paypal by sending $25 for regular subscription (mailed newsletter) or $5.00 for electronic subscription (e-mail newsletter) to jnlcalvert@gmail.com or mail dues to Jim Calvert, 769 Bracken Ln, Nipomo, CA 93444 Checks need to be made out to JIM CALVERT

We very much appreciate your continued support and ask you to renew promptly so Jim does not have to send out reminder notices. Thanks for being a member of the ATTS!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Send your own questions, comments, corrections, or information to:

BILL at: Wimhands@gmail.com

I echo John's comments. Dues are critical to keep the ATTS viable. While you are reading take a minute to send your dues via Paypal or send a check to Jim Calvert. "I will do it later" can easy convert into "I forgot". Unfortunately, I have experience with that. I like to practice what I preach, and I just paid my dues while writing this. The electronic newsletter is a such a bargain, so I sent a donation along with my dues. Every bit helps.

The only thing is my article vault is a lot of dust. I need help from the membership in this area. Submissions can be comments, stories about recent or past purchases, etc in addition to articles.

If you look at the eBay list, the hobby is very active. There have been a lot of sales of interesting and rare items and the prices have been strong. Sales of common items are not listed and there are plenty of them. If you acquired an interesting item, let the membership know.

I hope everyone has a relaxing and enjoyable holiday season, Bill

ED KETTENBRINK WRITES:

A friend passed along to me the ATTS NEWSLETTER number 195 knowing of my interest in such things and I was quite interested in your article highlighting some of the rarities from the Hartzog can provide you with a little more info. In the last year I also obtained a used example of IL-L7, which you can see in the attached scan. Obviously, my example is rather scruffy compared to yours but one can't be too picky when it comes to R10 (or in this case a R9) tax ticket. Feel free to illustrate my discovery in the ATTS NEWSLETTER, if you think that it merits that treatment.

RECOLLECTIONS ABOUT GEORGE MCGEE

BY TIM DAVENPORT H-232

I was interested to see the George Magee invoice from the middle-1970s in ATTS Newsletter #202. I bought a decent-sized chunk of Mr. Magee's old dealer inventory and wound up paying for my first year of college from the proceeds of selling sales tax tokens.

Most of Mr. Magee's Tenino woods ended up in my hands at a price somewhat higher than that listed in the invoice here. I seem to remember buying his Tenino stuff out to the last piece at about $1 per token. Bear in mind this is decades ago (1979?), but I remember being presented by him with the choice of either buying his entire tax token stock at his asking price or only the Tenino material at $1 a slab — and I opted for the latter.

My recollection is that I sold them for $6 each, or thereabouts, which was a markup that was simultaneously gargantuan and merciful, depending on how one looks at things. I'm sure there are documents out there that can either verify this price or demonstrate it to be a false memory. That's just what the old brain remembers...

It was interesting dealing with Mr. Magee. The price was the price when he sold things and (somewhat overpriced) common material and (greatly undervalued) rarities sold almost at par. He didn't soften the price of his commons nor did he jack up the price of the rarities. The price was the price.

George Magee was probably the first serious dealer of sales tax tokens, succeeded in the 1970s by the great Jerry Schimmel. I doubt I would have gotten into STTs the way I did if there were no such dealer at the time. I had my few years as a token dealer, built my collection, wrote the catalog with Merl Malehorn (I did the histories, he did the token listings), and sold my collection off and moved along.

I spent the 1980s and 1990s collecting 7" vinyl records — new wave and punk rock stuff — interspersed with collecting history books and political pamphlets. I'm actually just selling off my record collection this summer, rehoming about 2,000 records through weekly price lists on my ebay. I'm coming out pretty okay on that collection as well.

Part of my ill-gotten gains from sale of my record collection are going to launch my current collection, American-made Waltham wristwatches with an emphasis on the 1920s and 1930s. Watch collecting has an almost numismatic feel to it — everything can be dated with serial numbers and the experience resembles the building of a type set. There's a big thrill of the chase involved in watch collecting, making it a hobby very much like collecting STTs and unlike coin collecting, which is frequently just a matter of writing a big check to a big dealer. I hate that about coins.

I'm also still involved in collecting (and writing) history books, being halfway through the process of compiling a six volume selected works of the great American socialist Eugene V. Debs, a five-time candidate for President of the United States. My publisher is Haymarket Books of Chicago and there are three volumes already on the street if anyone is interested.

Anyway, it was really good to see a George Magee price list — I would recognize his typing anywhere! Thanks for the memory.

Happy Collecting! Tim Davenport, Corvallis, OR

A MISCELLANEOUS NEW FIND AND CATALOG CORRECTION

BY JOHN OSTENDORF, R-518

I recently bought and sold an unlisted sales tax token without realizing it was unlisted. Oops! The buyer contacted me and let me know. It was his gain due to my negligence. I had assumed the token pictured was simply a leftover unstamped Misc-O4. Had I paid better attention though, I would have noticed this token was aluminum. This led me to research old ATTS Newsletters for the history behind Misc-O1 through O-4.

ATTS Newsletter #20 (September-October, 1974) pictures four entries in a membership token contest. I could find no further mention of the contest until ATTS Newsletter #28 (January-February, 1976) which stated that the membership tokens were distributed to members in late 1975 and were struck in brass. I was able to confirm this when examining the membership token donated by Al White which was incused with the number 220. So somehow, M&D got that wrong.

ATTS Newsletter #28 also mentions that there were 3 unique (rarity 10) tokens struck in off-metals – aluminum, copper, and a nickel alloy (called copper-nickel for the remainder of this article). These were presentation pieces for Jerry Schimmel who won the design contest and was founding member #3. So M&D also erred with Misc-O2. Here is what the listings should be:

- O1- aluminum
- O2 – copper-nickel
- O3 – copper
- O4 - brass

So the piece pictured is a sort of discovery piece! Misc-O1A? My guess is Jerry (or whoever actually handled this with the manufacturer) had a few of each of the off-metal tokens to ensure the incuse impression came out right. My guess is that the aluminum token (planchet?) was meant to be destroyed. Could there be others out there?

Lesson learned – pay attention. You don't want to sell a R-10 token at a R-4 price!

GOOD(OR BAD)THINGS COME TO AN END!

Unfortunately I cannot continue to be both Newsletter Editor and President, so in the coming weeks one or the other job for me will have to go. Please let me know if there is anyone with ideas, suggestions, recommendations, names, or any idea as to what ATTS should do.

Yours truly,
Jerry F. Schimmel

DID YOU GET YOUR MEMBERSHIP TOKEN?

In the November-December NEWSLETTER issue, your membership token was cleverly hidden in the Dues Payment envelope addressed to Charlie Carter. It was put there to keep it from rolling around. If you didn't get the token, better check out the envelope, and while you are at it, pay your 1976 dues - $3.00.

Two hundred and fifty brass tokens were struck. Each one has an incuse serial number, #1 through #250. Each number represents the membership number of an ATTS member. The legend is as follows:

O: American/ Tax Token/ 1975/ Society
R: Souvenir Sales Tax/ (serial no. in a circle of beads)/ Member's Token

In addition there were three unique presentation specimens struck each in aluminum, copper, and a nickel alloy. Each of those had only the serial number "3". These were given to Jerry Schimmel, winner of the token's design contest. A number of pieces are left over, ones belonging to persons not paid up and some others. What to do with them?
